What is Phishing?

Tell Me

Phishing is the use of deception to acquire passwords, credit card numbers, and other sensitive information from a user. Email is the most common phishing medium. Phishers typically pose as a trusted entity, such as a system administrator, in order to scam their victims.

Feedback: Correct or Suggest an Article | Request Help